

FPA EARLY CAREER SCIENTIFIC PRIZE

2019 POLICIES & GUIDELINES

The Fondation Pour l'Audition, hereinafter referred to as "FPA", supports scientific research in Hearing Sciences with the ultimate goal of improving hearing health using two means, a call for research proposals and scientific prizes. FPA is committed to support excellence in Hearing Sciences by awarding scientific prizes, such as the FPA Early Career Scientific Prize (hereinafter referred to as "the Prize").

ARTICLE I. Objective

The FPA Early Career Scientific Prize is awarded annually to two French investigators in recognition of the excellence and impact of a significant work he/she achieved in the field of Hearing Sciences.

The two FPA Early Career Scientific Prizes are divided in 2 categories as follows:

- one prize recognizing a significant work in basic science and will be awarded to a PhD or a MD/PhD, and
- the second prize recognizing a significant work in clinical research and will be awarded to a MD or a MD/PhD.

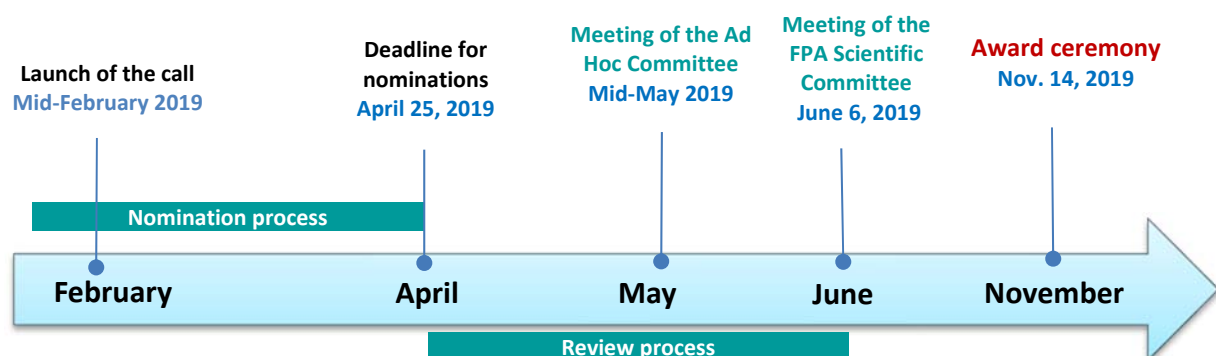

ARTICLE II. Eligibility

The Prize is open to investigators meeting the following criteria:

- o Being a French citizen or a French resident for at least 5 years,
- o Must hold as of January 1, 2019 his/her Ph.D. for 7 years at the most and/or has finished his/her clinical residency or fellowship 7 years ago at the most.
- o Working in a French academic or clinical public research institution
- o Up to 45 years old

Previous laureates of the FPA Early Career Scientific Prize are not allowed to reapply for the Prize. Current and past members of the FPA Board of Directors are ineligible. Also, current members of the FPA Scientific Committee are ineligible.

ARTICLE III. Overall process timetable

ARTICLE IV. Nomination process

Candidates may nominate themselves for the Prize or be nominated by a peer.

4.1 Required documents - All the documents must be submitted in English ONLY.

For peer nominations only

In order to apply, a peer will need to:

- fill out the peer nomination application form,
- provide the candidate's CV (documenting his/her academic records, professional experience, distinctions and awards, main lectures/presentations) and the full list of his/her publications
- obtain 3 letters of support for the candidate (including one from the nominator). Letters must be sent directly by the referee to FPA.

For self-nominations only

In order to apply, a candidate will need to:

- fill out the self-nomination application form,
- provide his/her CV (documenting his/her academic records, professional experience, distinctions and awards, main lectures/presentations) and the full list of his/her publications
- provide the contact information of 3 experts from different institutions that will be contacted for letters of support.

4.2 Electronic submission

The documents (5 MB max) must be submitted electronically as PDF files through the e-submission portal at <http://www.fondationpouurlaudition.org/?p=2522> by April 25, 2019 at 5 PM (French time). No supplementary material other than the documents requested are accepted.

4.3 General considerations

Incomplete applications or applications not complying with the FPA policies will be administratively rejected. Any misleading or false statements will render the application null and void. Late applications will not be accepted.

4.4 Acknowledgment of receipt

Upon receipt of the electronic application by FPA, the applicant will receive an acknowledgment of receipt to the e-mail address provided in the application form.

ARTICLE V. Peer-review process

The FPA policies are intended to ensure that all applications are evaluated on a fair and timely process, free of bias.

5.1 Admissibility and review process

FPA verifies the admissibility of applications and compliance with the present FPA policies.

Compliant applications will be evaluated by an ad hoc selection committee composed of experts in Hearing Sciences external to the FPA Scientific Committee.

Once the ad hoc selection committee has completed its selection of candidates, the FPA Scientific Committee¹ will select the two laureates of the Prize as the two reaching the absolute majority of votes from the FPA Scientific Committee in their respective categories (i.e. clinical or basic science). In the event of a tie, the chair of the FPA Scientific Committee will have the casting vote.

¹ Click here for the composition of the FPA Scientific Committee

5.2 Evaluation criteria

Applications will be evaluated using the following evaluation criteria:

- The quality of the candidate and his/her expertise, past experiences and achievements
- The originality, quality and excellence of the candidate's research or clinical work he/she was nominated for
- The promising research or clinical work of the candidate
- The impact of the candidate's research on hearing health

The ad hoc selection committee as well as the FPA Scientific Committee are sovereign in their deliberations, which are confidential and not subject to any appeal in any way by the applicant, his/her institution.

If the quality of the nominations does not meet the FPA requirements, the FPA Scientific Committee is free to dismiss all the applications and not award any Prize.

The award recipients proposed by the FPA Scientific Committee are subjected to the approval of the FPA Board of Directors.

5.3 Breach of review

Applicants, as well as their institution's representatives, may not contact any member of the ad hoc selection committee and the FPA Scientific Committee regarding their application during the review process.

Failure to comply with this policy will create serious breaches of confidentiality and conflicts of interest in the peer review process that will lead to the administrative rejection of the nomination.

Members of the ad hoc selection committee and FPA Scientific Committee are required to notify FPA if they are contacted by an applicant.

ARTICLE VI. Award considerations

6.1 Prize amount

The amount of the Prize is set to forty thousand euros (40,000 €) per prize and qualifies as personal money (subject to tax regulation). The corresponding wire transfer will be made a week after the award ceremony to the laureate's bank account.

If the laureate would like to fund his/her lab with part of the award or the whole award, FPA may set up a grant agreement with the laureate's institution.

6.2 Prize conditions

The Prize will be awarded to the two laureates subjected to:

- the signature of the FPA Charter of Commitments by each laureate, and
- the presence of the two laureates at the award ceremony and keynote lecture of the Scientific Grand Prize laureate on November 14, 2019 in Paris, France².

ARTICLE VII. Suspension, cancellation or adjournment of the call for nominations

If circumstances require it or for reasons beyond its control, FPA reserves the right to modify the present policies or to suspend, cancel or adjourn the organization of the 2019 call for applications of the FPA Early Career Scientific Prize without affecting its liability. Also, the prize competition will be cancelled in case only one nomination is received. However, the Prize may no longer be cancelled after the plenary meeting of the FPA Scientific Committee held to select the laureate, unless the FPA Scientific Committee is unable to get to the Prize ceremony due to unforeseen circumstances.

² Costs related to the travel and accommodation of the laureate will be covered by FPA

ARTICLE VIII. Key dates

Launch of the call	Mid-March 2019
Nomination deadline	April 25, 2019
Ad hoc committee meeting	Mid-May 2019
Scientific Committee meeting	June 6, 2019
Meeting of the Board of Directors	June 2019
Prize notification	July 2019
Prize ceremony	Nov. 14, 2019

ARTICLE IX. Support

For assistance, contact the FPA Chief Scientific Officer at: FONDATION POUR L'AUDITION - 13, rue Moreau - 75012 Paris, France - e-mail: research@pourlaudition.org